

What the 10th Anniversary of Street Feat Means To Me

by Kendall Worth, Vendor and Editorial Contributor

Well hello regular Customers who buy the Street Feat Newspaper. I have been involved with selling the Street Feat Newspaper for the past three-to-four years of my life, and I must say it has been a real good experience for me in more ways than one. Selling this paper has helped me out with giving me social and economical responsibility in my life. This opportunity to sell the newspaper has also given me something to fall back on when other things don't work out. I always meet lots of interesting people on different days when I am out selling the paper, and this experience has given me lots of learning opportunities with getting to know about the news paper business in general.

I, Kendall Worth, first got interested in selling Street Feat when I first heard about it because I was impressed with what Street Feat was all about and I felt that Halifax has a real need for this paper to exist and for more people to get to know about it. Another reason that I got interested in selling this paper is because I like meeting new people and I like talking to people among the general public. I also have issues and mental health challenges which prevent me from holding down other types of work. I also have issues in dealing with job related stress, which I have experienced from past jobs.

However some of our regular readers may remember Volume 8-Issue 4 where my picture was on the front cover. Inside that issue, you may remember reading my article titled "Getting My Idea Out to the General Public". I must admit that selling Street Feat has given me ideas regarding learning some of what I need to know in running my own business as well. Sometimes when I am out selling, some people stop and ask me about "How is it going?" Well just to let you know, I am still working on it, however as we all know and understand opening a business doesn't just happen over night. Sometimes it takes years to do so. I have also run into non-related difficulties over the years, which led to me stopping work on my business and then when things were right, starting it up again.

(Just to let you people know, the most official update I have on this matter, is that right now I am working on a series of photos which I might use for a line up of post cards, and because some of these photos are wintery scenes, maybe they will prove to be an attractive line up of Christmas cards, at the appropriate time.)

Anyway one more thing I want to bring up before I end this article is that even though Street Feat is still going pretty good, I know that there was a time when it used to be a lot better. I will admit sometimes (especially over the past year or so), I do worry about the future of Street Feat. I know that our monthly issues don't come out as often as they used to, more like quarterly issues now. I just want to let the general public know that it is not our fault this happens. I want to end this article by saying that I am one vendor who is willing to work very hard to try and keep Street Feat going.

We are looking for volunteers for our office. If you have some spare time you want to fill with worthwhile volunteerism, why not give us a call? Street Feat - The Voice of the Poor - 453-5510 street.feet@ns.sympatico.ca
